How Many Miles to Dinner:

Home improvement begins in the kitchen, says Miss Fra Clark, home commist extension specialist of the Missouri College of Agriculture. This is one of the slogans in Missouri's Home Improvement Week, which is to have state-wide observance Oct. 9 to 14

Conveniently arranged kitchens save the housewife 150 to 300 miles of walking in a year, according to surveys recently completed. Seventy per sent of the time speat in housework is spent in the kitchen, therefore every sten and every motion needs, of be studied. Efficiency principles applied in the kitchen will save miles of walking, much stooping and stretching, not to mention hervous energy wasted in useless motion.

One of the biggest step savers is a simple system of water supply and disposal, consisting merely of pitcher pump, sink and drain. This system meets two requirements of a neces-

Home Improvement Week in Missouri October 9-14

Home Improvement Week will be observed in Missouri October 9 to 14. This is the me that the Agricultural Extension service has set aside for bringing to the attention, particularly of the home makers on the farms in of the home makers on the farms in home demonstration agent counties, improved kinds of equipment for cooking, cleaning and other house-hold processes, the value of running water, lighting, heating and waste disposal systems for farm homes, and improved methods of doing house-

This will be the second Home Improvement Week held in Missouri, according to Miss Essie M. Heyle of the Extension Service, and this year it coincides with Better Homes Week as observed throughout the United States. Many counties are planning household management tours in which groups of home makers will spend a day visiting farm homes to examine various kinds of modern home equip-ment and methods of doing housework. In counties not planning tours a series of meetings will be held where the women themselves will give demonstrations and will report on the value to them of improved equip-

Window displays, moving picture films and newspaper articles will also aid the cause of making housekeeping so efficient that some of the drudgery will be eliminated and the women in the homes will not have to spend all of their time and energy keeping house, but will have time to be better mothers, wives and callzens.
